We want to plead with you to please understand the benefits of XM radio! XM radio is different from AM or FM - we need it the same way we need cable TV and satellite TV along with local stations.

In our situation we bought it for several reasons:

1. We spend a great deal of time in the Colorado mountains where there is NO radio reception (There is also no TV or cell phones) with XM we are able to have music, talk, comedy - whatever radio we want and it is our only link to a radio weather station - we use it in the house and in the car.
2. We travel a good deal either by car or RV. In the RV we cannot get good reception because of the electronic equipment. It's great to be able to use the XM - and we can get weather for whatever area we are in. In the car, we can receive AM/FM but often nothing we want to hear - or we get a good program and then we drive out of their listening area. With XM we can get whatever type of radio we want and we can hear the complete broadcast.
3. We often listen to the XM just because there is such a selection we can get whatever type of program we want - and without so many commercials.

Right at this moment we are listening to a local FM. Fine. Will probably listen to it all day. But such technology as XM is now available and we should not be deprived just because AM/FM feels threatened. If they aren't getting enough listeners, they aren't doing a good job!!

Again, please count our family (3) as being in full support of the XM radio.

Thanks,
